PICTURES.

BY MRS. A. E. F.

are beautiful pictures on memory's walls, fairer than the visions of dreams, which the glad sunlight of childhood falls
the blush of its rosy beams; visions of childhood's joys complete, the streams of life with its ocean meet. flowers of spring have begun to show light of their winsome eyes, their bursting buds with a new life glow the blue of the Southern skies, with eager hands I my apron fill the spotted leaves of the "Leopardill." pastures green are all dotted o'er forms of the browsing herds; the soft air teems with the twittered love myriad flocks of birds. in frolicsome glee the lambskins flit the mossy banks of the rivulet. are pictures of morning so bright and clear dewdrops on flowers and grass, the dulcet notes of the lark I hear "sing for you" as I pass my way to school, with my books and satchel, start with sweet childish dreams elate.
's the old schoolhouse in the sheltering shade thus with their branches green, their dancing shadows we merrily played, hours of school between;
the spring where we quaffed with a keen delight water that flowed o'er the pebbles white.

are pictures of fields where the waving wheat and flow plenty to high and low; the promise fulfilled in the garnered store summer wanes, and the harvest is o'er.
the picture of one who with gentle hand led my infant feet, taught me the way to that better land the past and the future meet; sainted one who has gone before, leading my steps on the other shore.
are beautiful pictures on memory's wall,
fairer than the visions of dreams;
the face of my mother, fairest of all, the face of an Angel seems; I'll meet her there on that radiant shore a life's harvest is ended, and summer is o'er.

Bridal Robes for the Shroud.

IMAGE OF A GIRL WHO WAS ONCE ANNOUNCED DEAD AND PREPARED FOR BURIAL.

MEMPHIS, April—Last evening the church of the Immaculate Conception in this city, was thronged with so many to witness the nuptials of Mary Griffith, daughter of the late A. Griffith, a former leading merchant of this city, and Mr. Vivian Neale, a beautiful young woman on 21, and for the past two seasons a belle in Baltimore society.
Rev. John A. Maloney performed marriage ceremony.
Three years ago, when Miss Griffith living in Cincinnati, she fell down the stairs, and received injuries which were considered fatal. Several physicians called to see her, and proposed her case hopeless. She afterwards grew much worse, fell into a comatose, and as it was thought, died. body was prepared for burial, and for two days in a casket. On the appointed for the funeral, when the casket was opened, she was found as the coffin was being closed, it was found that the lifelike appearance of supposed corpse became more pronounced, and there were slight signs of returning vitality. A physician was called, and after an hour or so Miss Griffith returned to consciousness. The gathering was turned into one of joy. The girl recovered, and has since in better health than ever before.

Pleasant and Profitable Day.

(Gibson Reveille.)

meeting of the County Grange Wednesday, at Hopewell, was the most of quite a large gathering of people and of others from adjoining counties.
Major Barksdale, Capt. Put Darden, Mr. H. O. Dixon, a prominent officer of the State Grange, made speeches in public upon the prominent issues of the day, in which there was a blending of anti-monopoly talk with subjects of closely concerning the Grange people. Politics, so far as the mention of slates was concerned, seemed, as we informed, to be ignored, and the day was wholly without political flavor.

should be so. While public interest in monopolies and corruption high places are concerned, belong to Grange, making political slates does and the Grange is aware of that. closing of the day—the sumptuous dinner and social chat, was followed a splendid social entertainment at well, under the genial supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Hastings. It was a most and profitable day for old Claithe belief that the people of upper cultivated green apples and peppers is strengthened by the discussion, in the course of recent expositions there, of the remains of a with the hand clasped across his chest.

MISSISSIPPI FORTY YEARS AGO.

Carroll Circuit Court Described by Franklin E. Plummer.

CARROLL COUNTY, Oct. 4, 1882.

Editor Grenada Herald: It is always a matter of interest with those who are not attendant upon a "Circuit Court" to know what transpires at them in the way of Business and Puffoonry, Politicks and Personalities—I shall therefore give you the doings of the first day in detail.

At an early hour Judge Howry took the chair and delivered a very practical and comprehensive charge to the Grand Jury. Carroll county always furnishes good jurors, and did not require much time or labor on the part of the judge to enable them to fully understand their duty.
Addison King is the foreman of the grand jury, and will discharge his duty in ferreting out frauds upon the State and County, whether committed by public officers or public journalists, as well as other petty vices and offences against the body politic.

Glover, the clerk of the court, is at his post discharging the duties imposed upon him by his fellow citizens with impartiality and fidelity, and I must say with a good humored affability rarely equalled.

After the court was fully under way in the afternoon a general rumor caused in the view of the Court, which caused a general suspension of business for several hours. It has not been the custom of the "Regular Judge" to do more on the first day than charge the Grand Jury, and some of his particular friends considered it an invasion of his rights.
"Counting privileges," and therefore determined to have their share of "public attention" in defiance of the powers that be. One worldly minded gentleman concluded that he would commence the "Show-off" according to the established rule of a certain society, and therefore applied to a physician for a "pale." The physician agreed with him that he needed it, but they could not agree about the price. The physician charged him one dollar for the medicine, but Bryan Saunders agreed to furnish enough to vomit a dozen men of ordinary dimensions, for a half dollar in dimes, 8 for the dollar. The medicine was administered in the "usual way," in which a quarrel arose between the parties either as to the "dimensions of the drinkers" the payment in dimes when the demand was over a dollar, or some other equally pertinent matter, and finding that it could not be arbitrated by a reference to the Hon. Franklin E. Plummer (in every way in our view fully competent to decide the question), the parties concluded to "fight it out" and at it they went.
Came were furnished, oaths were vociferously administered—some were knocked down—others heads were cut—and eyes were blackened and noses mashed after the most improved modern style.
While this general row was at its best here came the sheriff with a posse to enforce the mandates of the acting Judge, who with the whole Court, (like a commanding general and his aids, in a martial conflict) occupied a prominent position in view of the riotous conflict.
True to his charge the sheriff arrested the principal rioter and lodged him safely within the four walls of the jail, being the same man who extracted one of his neighbor's eyes not long since, without his neighbor's consent. A brother bully, of rather a genteel stripe, attempted to arrest his comrade from the clutches of the sheriff, was himself arrested and placed in the back room of the jail for two weeks and fined $100. This checked the rebellious spirit of the "opposition" to the court, and it has had no further trouble "from without."

A fine array of lawyers presented themselves "at and about" the court—a full representation from all the adjoining counties, the whole of Grenada and most of the Yalobusha members were present. Mr. Bailey, a member of the Charleston Bar, recently from the "dark and bloody ground" was present for the first time. Mr. Mount, late representative of Yazoo county in the State Legislature, was also present; he has recently become so corpulent that he is compelled to travel under "wheels," but friend Heron was not present and there was no rivalship in that way. A few "Cotton men" mixed freely with the people on Monday; among the number was your friend Brown of Grenada and Messrs.
Minter and Chisholm and McConnell of Williams Landing—all seemed to be willing to serve the good people in their way. Wood and Stancel were also driving a small business in the same line.
Worley of Tchula was also here attending to the wishes of his "Big Black" friends.

A temperance meeting came off in the court-house on Monday evening at which your townsman Baine (with his little whiskers smoothed up and his best looks about him) presented himself and the curses of intemperance prominently and very favorably before a very enlightened audience. Mr. Brooke, of Lexington, a rough hewn, strong featured lawyer, who made himself conspicuous during the hard-cider campaign as the advocate of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too" made a tolerable speech on the blessings of temperance. W. C. Robb, another of your talented townsmen, made a very pretty short speech upon the subject of Temperance generally with a slight inkling of religious zeal and enthusiasm.
He is a good declaimer and all that he needs to make him a most effective public speaker is a thorough acquaintance with the subject under discussion.
In reading the minutes this morning the clerk called the grand jury all "good and lawful men," at the same moment one of their number was in jail for unlawfully taking too much of Bryan Sander's medicine. Yours, PHILO-VETO.

Prevent Decay of the Teeth

With their surest preservative, aromatic Sesquioxide. Whiteness of the dental row, a healthful rosinness and hardness of the gums, a sweet breath, an agreeable taste in the mouth, all these are conferred by Sesquioxide.
Does not such an invaluable toilet article, one so pure as well as effective, deserve the popularity it enjoys? Most assuredly. It has no rival worthy of the name.
The ordinary powders and pastes are nothing to it, and since its appearance have rapidly lost ground. Sold by druggists.

Why a Man Ran Himself Out of Breath.

Atlanta Constitution.]

A strange story was told a day or two since by a countryman living in the vicinity of Americus. He said that a ball of fire suddenly sprang up before him on the public road while he was on his way home, keeping steadily before him until opposite a graveyard, when it turned in mid-air over that burial place.
He said that he was so badly frightened that he was out of breath from running when he got home.

A Perfect Wreck.

Such is the condition of the man who has long battled with trouble of the kidneys, liver, bladder, and urinary organs. No parts of the human system, when ailing, "give out" sooner than these, or sooner wreck health and life. He warned in time.
You cannot—must not—"pull" with such ailments. Cure them at once. There is an infallible cure. It is Hunt's Remedy, the great kidney and liver medicine. Hunt's Remedy was never known to fail. It even cures Bright's Disease of the kidneys.

Society cannot exist unless a controlling power upon will and appetite be placed somewhere, and the less of it there is within the more there must be without. It is ordained in the eternal constitution of things that men of im-temperate minds cannot be free. Their passions force their fetters.—Burke.

Mr. Geo. S. G. French says: "My dear little boy Robert was at death's door with cholera infantum, and I never forgot the gratitude I owe Dr. Morrill for saving his life with his THERIAK (Teething Powder).
For sale by Byron Leamy.

"Few persons have sufficient wisdom to prefer censure, which is useful to them, to praise, which deceives them."
Not so true as it once was, however.
Even the most deserving of it are learning the value of honest criticism.—La Rochefoucauld.

Mr. R. Lemly, Jackson, Miss., says:
"Brown's Iron Bitters is highly spoken of by those who use it."
